WINERY TASTING NOTES

We continue to utilize our outstanding "stable" of Sangiovese clones to produce and bottle a wine that is 100% varietal without the addition of other varietals. 2007 was picture-perfect with respect to ripening, yield and balance of flavor in the fruit, which made the winemaking easy. Benessere is one of the only wineries in Napa Valley that is still committed to producing this wine as a stand-alone varietal. Gentle treatment is paramount to the production of fine Sangiovese, and we spare no expense in the hand sorting, manual punch-downs of the cap during fermentation and gravity/nitrogen decanting during the birth and barrel life of this wine. All of these loving treatments contribute to the depth of flavor and aroma. Fining and filtration are unnecessary and leave more flavor and color in the wine. Benessere continues to craft an elegant and beautiful wine with this extremely fickle and delicate varietal.

Although Tuscany has cornered the market for Sangiovese, we feel that we are producing the finest "New World" wine from this varietal. Beautiful ruby color, perfume and red fruit laden aromatics, along with soulful and palate pleasing flavors are the major descriptors of our 2007 Estate Sangiovese. This wine is a versatile partner with foods ranging from barbecue-grilled chicken to porcini rigatoni and marinated pork tenderloin. It will also pair with Sea Bass, sun-dried tomatoes and capers as well as raspberry infused chocolate cheesecake. The clean core of acidity and lingering finish with substantial yet supple tannins are hallmarks of a wine that is drinkable now, but will last for a decade or more.
